

Backed by a huge inventory ready for immediate, same day shipment!

By now, we all know how easy it is for others in the business to make a big impressive spread on a website, but what's on a website is not always the same as what's in the warehouse. We maintain a well-stocked warehouse, so we can supply you with all your rod building needs shipped complete from one place.

SPECIAL INVITATION

Our experienced staff can help you with all aspects of rod building and they encourage you to call or stop by—see for yourself the largest inventory of rod components in the world. If you want to learn how to build custom rods we will be happy to show you. To get free advice, learn more about rod building, or how to use and sell the products we offer, set aside some time for a visit—you won't regret coming. Since some periods are extremely busy for us, we do request that you call to schedule an appropriate time!

Thank you for your business, support and interest in our products.